

August 2015: All Animals are Equal

Can you reach the heart of heaven?

Can you learn the greatest lesson?

Everyone is a unique person

Not to be lessen

The church bell's calling

The children's laughing

The world's smiling

But some are wailing

Why!

Should we say, aye?

Or a sturdy, nope!

With love and hope.

Why this bizarre world?

Too lazy and crotchety?

A new bridge they said they hold

To slacken us unfavorably?

Listen Napoleon et al

Changing the maxim to fool us all

Some still remembers the novel

“All animals are equal”
